

SMALLPOX ON THE MAKURA

Canadian Boat Quarantined—Alameda Sailed Without Her Passengers.

Smallpox aboard the Canadian-Australian steamship Makura caused that vessel to be declared in quarantine about ten o'clock last night and she remained outside for the night. This morning the cruiser Washington may be sent away from the quarantine wharf to permit the Australian boat to come ashore and lighter off her cargo, and to take on freight from here. Passengers from this port for Vancouver will be transferred from shore to the Makura by launch. Major Beixoto and forty-two Columbia Park boys, who were to have left the Makura here and transferred to the Alameda will undoubtedly continue on the Makura and land at Vancouver, taking a train down to San Francisco, as the Alameda left for San Francisco about eleven o'clock last night.

LOCAL OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES WEATHER BUREAU.

Honolulu, Wednesday, February 2, 1910.

Table with columns for THERMO, WIND, and other weather-related data.

TIDE, SUN AND MOON.

Table with columns for Tide, Sun, and Moon data.

METROLOGICAL RECORD.

Table with columns for Day, Therm, Wind, and other meteorological data.

Notes—Barometer readings are corrected for temperature, instrumental error, and local gravity, and reduced to sea level. Average cloudiness stated in tenths from 0 to 10. Direction of wind is average velocity in miles per hour ending at 5 p. m. Velocity of wind is prevailing direction during 24 hours.

W. M. STOCKMAN, Section Director.

On the Makura was about two days late in leaving Sydney, and according to information brought ashore last night, no time was made up because of a lack of coal. The coal strike in Australia has seriously hampered the loading of coal bunkers and the supply on the Makura was safeguarded, although an extra large supply was taken on at Suva.

The wireless apparatus broke down and the operator was unable to send messages a long distance. The inability of the operator to "talk" was a serious hamper to the exchange of messages with the agents and the quarantine service relative to the case of sickness aboard, and the disposition of the forty-two Columbia Park boys.

There are thirty passengers for Honolulu in addition to the Columbia Park boys. Among the local ones are H. P. Wood, secretary of the promotion committee, who has been making an extended tour of the Orient with Mrs. Wood, and is now returning to resume his duties and assist in the plans for the Floral Parade.

Professor Bowser Aboard. Prof. E. A. Bowser, professor of mathematics at Rutgers College, is a through passenger aboard. A wireless message was sent ashore yesterday afternoon by H. P. Wood to Dr. Judd asking him to be on the wharf when the boat arrived, and have an ambulance to transfer the professor to a hospital, as he was quite ill. The sender also asked that Captain Castner, constructing quartermaster, U. S. A., and Dr. Scudder, who both studied at Rutgers, be on the wharf to meet their old instructor in mathematics. As the vessel is now in quarantine Professor Bowser may not be brought ashore after all. Professor Bowser has been a member of the Rutgers' faculty since 1870. He is one of the most eminent authorities in mathematics and has written a large number of textbooks on the subject. His books are among the authorities used at West Point.

Undelivered Address. A handsome Hawaiian flag attached to a box of wood stuff and tied to the deck with red, white and blue ribbons, was sent to the Bishop wharf last evening in anticipation of the Makura's arrival. It was a present from Governor Peard to the Columbia Park boys. The Governor was unable to go down to the wharf, and sent his secretary Edmund McBride, who was to deliver an address on behalf of the Governor when presenting the banner. The flag will be sent aboard today.

Sailing Hour Uncertain. Just when the Makura will sail was not known by the agents last night. Information on this subject may be obtained this morning by phone to Deane & Co., agents for the Canadian A. S. S. line. The agents state, however, that there is room for all those who have booked from here. Young the number are many Vancouver people who came here last month on the Alameda. W. O. Miller, superintendent of the Canadian-Pacific Rail way at Vancouver, and family, are to go. D. Konyev, of the Vancouver Post office editorial staff, will also be leaving, having spent a month's holiday. The smallpox patient aboard the Makura is a little girl in the stateroom.

Dog Gone. Captain Diekmann of the H. Hackfeld only suffered a loss from his crew by the desertion of eight seamen, but the deserters ran off with his pet dog, which is the darling of his heart. A few days ago the dog had taken up her abode with her master's runaway dog on shore, there was an increase of seven in the family. The captain had been looking forward to the event with much anticipation and expected the pups to be the finest in the Federated. Last night Special Officer Minvielle captured one of the deserters and with him the engine family and returned the latter to the sorrowful skipper. They were just what he expected them to be, and being a humane man he took them in, but they have lost their attraction for him. They were not been under the three-barred flag that floats at the mast-head of the H. Hackfeld, but are only American officers and can not conscientiously Hoch der Kaiser!

Local Notice to Mariners.

Oahu Island, southerly side, Honolulu Harbor Entrance.—Lighted buoys to be established in place of other buoys, about February 15, 1910, as follows:

Outside Entrance Gas Buoy, red, marked "Honolulu O" will replace outside entrance bell buoy, and will show a fixed red acetylene light, occulted at frequent intervals.

Entrance gas buoy, 1, will replace entrance buoy, 1, a first-class tall-type can, and will show a fixed white acetylene light during periods of two seconds separated by ellipses of two seconds' duration.

Oahu Island, southerly side, Honolulu harbor, Honolulu range front light.—Position, name and character to be changed.—About February 15, 1910, there will be established in the structure recently erected on the easterly side of Sand Island, westerly side of the channel inside the entrance to Honolulu harbor, a fourth-order light to show fixed white during periods of four seconds separated by ellipses of two seconds' duration.

The light will be 431.2 feet above the water and 41 feet above the ground, will illuminate the entire horizon, and will be visible in clear weather about twelve miles, the observer's eye 15 feet above the sea.

The light will be shown from a black cylindrical lantern surmounting a square concrete tower, on a concrete keeper's dwelling with black roof.

On the same date the temporary Honolulu range front light will be discontinued and the name of the station will be changed to "Honolulu Harbor Light Station."

Oahu Island, southerly side, Honolulu harbor, Honolulu range rear light.—Characteristic and name to be changed.—About February 15, 1910, the characteristic of this light will be changed to fixed red, its arc of illumination will be increased to make it visible from all points within the harbor limits, and its name will be changed to "Honolulu Fort Street Light."

Oahu Island, Honolulu harbor—Channel buoy 9, a 2d-class can, reported as having been dragged about 45 feet to the westward of its correct position, was replaced January 29, 1910.
